Port Melbourne Life Saving Club Annual Report 2010 - 2011

Life Saving Season 2010 - 2011

The Port Melbourne Life Saving Club was first established in 1913 and has over the years merged with several clubs that existed at nearby beaches. The last merger was in 2002 when Middle Park LSC closed due to deteriorating club rooms and a disappearing beach.

For 98 years we have been keeping Port Melbourne beaches safe. The club has seen its ups and downs over the years but today it is a vibrant club offering a popular Nipper Program for local families and a safe beach environment for the public to use and enjoy.

Run entirely by volunteers the club is affiliated with Life Saving Victoria and Surf Life Saving Australia.

Presidents Report

Three short years ago, Port Melbourne Life Saving Club was struggling to survive. Membership was at an all-time low, our Nipper's program had quality but struggled to find qualified instructors, the City Council was openly discussing a potential merger with another club, and our management committee was overly dependent on a few dedicated members. Obviously, things had to change or the lengthy history of our club would come to an end.

When I joined the committee in 2008, I spent some time "assessing the foundations" of our club. I found all the right building blocks for success and rapidly realized that channeling the energy in the right directions and priorities would unleash significant potential. After all, we were smack in the middle of a growing suburb with a burgeoning youthful population. And so, I worked with others on your committee to establish a structured approach to realize this potential.

I'm delighted to report to you that "the times, they are a-changing". This report provides overwhelming evidence that Port Melbourne Life Saving Club is roaring back to take its place as a prominent community icon and hub. I won't repeat the statistics contained elsewhere in this report but will outline, in point form, further evidence of a promising future.

- This past season, we re-entered competitions within the Life Saving fraternity. This is a critical part of providing additional channels for our youth.
- During the coming season, we're planning to expand our competition calendar and potentially rejoin the Rescue Boat racing competition.
- The City Council has ceased any thought of merging clubs, recognizing Port Melbourne LSC is providing a valuable community service. Indeed, the CoPP has committed $120,000 in the current year's budget to refurbishing parts of our clubhouse facilities.
- Prominent local organizations such as Bunnings and Port of Melbourne see the value of association with a successful club and have contributed products or dollars to help.
- Our club is in the strongest financial position of its history.
- Our sister club arrangement with Anglesea Surf Life Saving Club has passed 2 successful seasons.
- Our management committee is twice the size of previous years, relieving pressure on core individuals.
- We've extended our relationship with local schools, providing a variety of programs, thus making more efficient use of our facilities in providing community service.
- We enjoy an excellent relationship with City Council representatives and with our state representatives.
- Our web site is fresh, new and exciting (check out http://www.portmelblsc.com.au/port-melbourne-lifesaving-club)

And now, turning my attention to the future.

At the upcoming AGM, I have decided to again offer my services as your president. I foresee a bright future for our club but to fulfill this potential will require our club to move to another level. Our suburb of Port Melbourne is experiencing unprecedented growth in numbers of young professionals and families. For example, our local primary school is currently 300% student numbers over that of 5 years ago. As a result of this growth, there is a large demand for community services that we must continue to meet. This must mean growth which in turn, means doing things differently, with new club members and fresh ideas. It will mean spreading the work load amongst an increasing number of volunteers and introducing improved methods and structure to ensure our quality is not compromised. It will mean finding new ways to overcome physical constraints of our clubhouse and our beach area. And it will require the capacity to change, to grasp new opportunities within Life Saving to provide terrific services to our Port Melbourne community.

In closing, I express thanks to our patrollers, our Age Managers and to our Committee. Without our patrollers on the beach, our club could not exist. Without our Age Managers to assist, our Nippers program could not exist. And thanks to our Committee members, especially the Executive members, who put in extra effort and hours to make it all work

In Memory

This season we mourn the passing of a Port Melbourne legend 'Leo DOC Wood'.

Doc is remembered now with a perpetual trophy, The Port Melbourne "Lifesaver of the Year" and an interview conducted a couple of years ago reproduced below;

Doc, has been a Port Melbourne local all his life, hailing from Little Bay Street, he has been coming down to Port Melbourne beach and club for over 75 years.

Doc has many fond memories since around 1930, of his time at the Port Melbourne Life Saving Club. One such memory was of the days when the local distillery, now across the road to our present day club, used to run it's excess wine down to the old drain pier near what is now Pickles Street.

The surrounding water in Port Melbourne bay was hot, to swim in. Doc speaks fondly of the times when he recalled the locals that would swim in and enjoy a relaxing warm sea bath in the local bay. Naturally, times have changed much since the good old days, this distillery and corresponding warm sea baths closed down, some 20 years ago.

Doc, who also holds the honorable title of being Port Melbourne Life Saving Club's longest serving member, spanning a period of over 60 years, also speaks of his time as a wharfie on the docks and his activities engaged while meandering around Port Melbourne as a youngster.

Life in the early and mid of last century was carefree, without much to do for the local youth. Doc spent his time at the local Port Melbourne Youth club, were wrestling and boxing were popular activities. Doc has always been very active in the Port Melbourne community. From running both the former Port Melbourne Peddle (Cycling) Club, in addition to coaching his beloved local youth football team, Graham United. A footy club aptly named after the lad's meeting place for training on the corner of Graham and Bay Street.

During his time at the footy club, Doc developed a reputation and in many ways took after the Footy clubs doctor, Dr Lafanyu, with his unkempt appearance, scraggy hair and pulled down socks, hence the name with the boys at the club and beach crew "Doc" stuck.

The Port Melbourne "Sportsman's Club" was formed around the 1970's running into the 1980's, consisting of local businessman and travellers, many of whom were ex- footy players, jockey's and cricketers who would congregate at Port Melbourne (formerly Southport Life Saving Club) every lunch break, from midday to two pm to play beach cricket. Freddy Farrad, a former time keeper for St Kilda and another well-known local made the men swim in the bay and exercise in both summer and winter.

Port Melbourne had always previously been a quiet and relaxing beach, never with any major incidents, other than a recent sting ray attack on an innocent footballer! Doc has seen many changes during his days at the beach, however one thing that remained the same is the many footy players that come down to Port Melbourne beach to relax and recover, these days generally after their weekly grueling training schedules.

Doc's beach loving days have always been shared with his family members, all 9 brother and 3 sisters, all who have been members of the club. Doc's brother Lorry also can be seen with his brother, relaxing around the club.

Another long serving club member and former Club Secretary was Doc's daughter Leanne Wood. Leanne married local Mayor, Councilor C. W. Raeburn, who officially opened the new Port Melbourne Life Saving Club house on December 7, 1991.

Another of Doc's family members, his sister Violet Johnston was a former serving Club President. Violet shared this position with many other fine Club Presidents such as Tom Buckingham, as well as Ernie and Charlie Hall, two fine men who happened to both run the lifesaving club and beach kiosk before the Great War.

The second longest long serving Port Melbourne LSC member of over 50 years and good friend of Doc's is Percy White. Percy can be seen pottering around the club and also has many amazing stories to share about the past.

One such story may include the day that the former club's beach shack and kiosk were demolished, to make way for the existing lifesaving club. The beach consisted of many sand dunes and scrub and on one evening around this time council tractors mysteriously came through and bulldozed all the scrub away, leaving us with our present day beach scape.

Doc, aka Leo Wood, is a Life Member of the Royal Life Saving Society (RLSS). Many members and visitors to the club can see Doc's certificate of gratitude for his life time of service to Life Saving, posted on the Port Melbourne club's walls, on the way upstairs to the patrol room.

Education and Development

Our Education and Development Panel are responsible for all the clubs training both Senior and Junior including management and coordination of our school programs.

Darrel and Belinda Gill have been running this area of club operations for the past eight years, Belinda coordinating the Nippers Program and Darrel running all Lifesaving training and assessments.

The Gills are down the club every Sunday for the Nippers Program, running Bronze training Sunday afternoons and weeknights, patrolling the beach and performing club administration tasks. With over 27 years lifesaving experience they form part of a core team that are vital to the health and operations of our club.

Darrel and Belinda also run our Schools Program where each season over 200 Primary School students visit our club and are taken through basic lifesaving skills and activities. The Gills also give up their time to visit Primary schools to run 'Meet a Lifesaver' classes to Grade Prep children.

Lifesaving Training

This season we had our largest Bronze group qualify in a long time with a 100% pass rate. It takes a lot of effort to run a Bronze course and I would like to thank all our trainers and patrollers who assisted over the 6 week program. We had a large number of current members complete their awards this year from our Nipper parents to juniors coming up though Nippers.

I'd like to encourage more of our Nipper Parents to complete next seasons Bronze course, as well as having a fun time you are also learning vital skills that can be used not only on the beach but in any emergency situation. By becoming part of the lifesaving team you will get to know a great group of volunteers and be providing a valuable community service but most of all your children will be proud to see their mum or dad wearing the red and yellow uniform.

Our Age Managers also play an important role in the club and are part of the reason our Nippers Program is so popular. An Age Manager can be your first step towards getting your Bronze it only takes a 3 hour theory session and 3 hour's on the beach during Nippers to become an Age Manager.

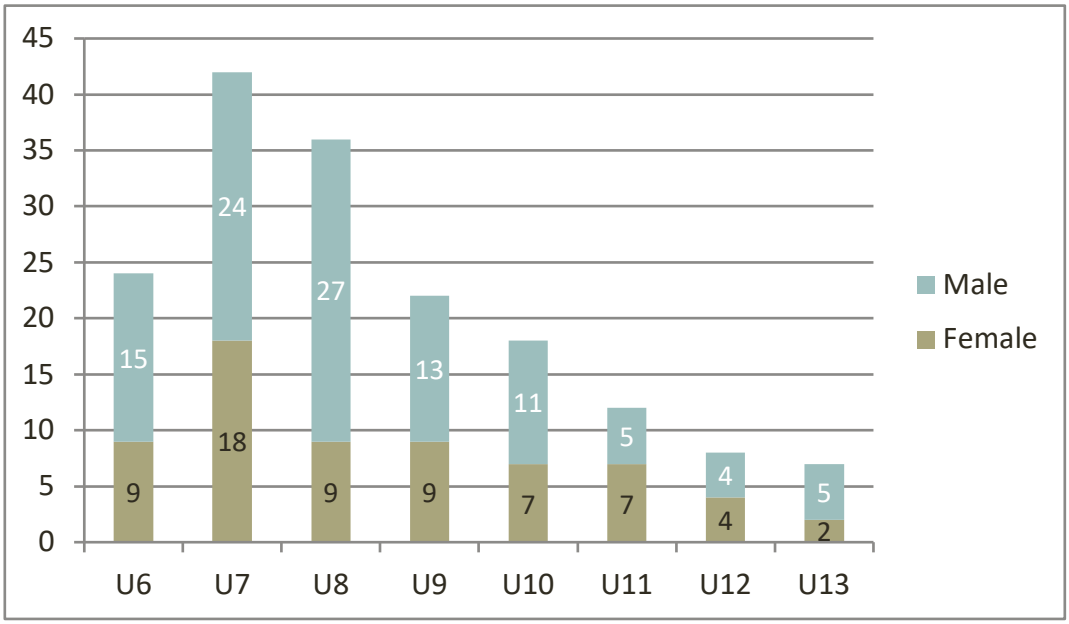
Junior Activities (Nippers)

What another fantastic program. We increased our Nipper numbers again this year. 149 eager Nippers were enrolled in the program. Out of the 13 sessions we had from December through to April, we only had 4 that we nice and warm. The other 9 days were cooler but it didn't stop the Nippers from coming down and participating in the activities.

This year I also took on a new role as coordinator of the Age Managers and not an actual Age Manager taking a group. This year I asked that one member from each family volunteer to be an Age Manager. We had 19 new parents train to become qualified Age Managers. If it wasn't for the assistance of these parents we would not be able to run our successful program.

New equipment was also purchased, such as jumping sack, hurdles, balls and cones etc. The Age Managers used the equipment within their group to jump, run and have fun with the Nippers.

Thanks for everyone's assistance and help in running our successful Nippers program.



Life Saving for Schools Program

For the past 7 years the club has run a schools program for Wembley Primary School and Penleigh and Essendon Grammar School.

Each February, 150 Grade 5/6 students come down to the beach for three Mondays in a row and learn all about Lifesaving and the skills required to become involved in Lifesaving.

I would like to thank the students and teachers from Wembley Primary School as they have requested to do the program again next year, I also need to thank all of the lifesavers who gave up their time to come down to the beach and help out with the program.

This year we also started a 10 week Lifesaving Program for the newly opened Albert Park College. In conjunction with Life Saving Victoria 150 Year 7 students completed a lifesaving program that formed part of the school's curriculum that we will offer for each starting year of the college. This program provides an introduction to lifesaving and club activities which we hope will encourage the students to become patrolling members of Port Melbourne.

Presentation Night

With a rapidly expanding membership our club rooms are no longer big enough for our presentation night, so this year we moved down to the excellent facilities at LSV HQ.

The committee approved an increase to the presentation night budget which allowed us to offer without cost to members some of the best finger food we have had in a long time, a credit to the catering staff at LSV. The best attended awards night we have ever had with over 160 members attending, well done to the committee members who organized the night.
